

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

We wish to acknowledge our indebtedness to Mr James T. Rutnam of Colombo, Ceylon, for providing photostatic copies of 195 letters, mostly from Conway, for use in this edition; in 1955 the manuscripts themselves were turned over to Farmington. We are grateful to the British Museum for permission to reproduce the letters from Lord and Lady Hertford among the Additional Manuscripts; and also to the Pierpont Morgan Library, the Royal Archives at Windsor Castle, the Scottish Record Office, Anthony Powys-Lybbe, Esq., the late Earl Bathurst, the late Sir John Murray, and the late Mrs Robert Vernon for permission to print letters in their possession. We also wish to thank the Duke of Devonshire and the Public Record Office, London, for allowing us to quote from Conway manuscripts owned by them.

The late Charles H. Bennett made the initial annotation of the correspondence with Lord Hertford. The late Bernhard Knollenberg made important additions to footnotes in a careful reading of the proof. Mr John Brooke and Professor George B. Cooper also read the proof and made valuable suggestions. Dr Warren H. Smith as usual read the typescript and the proof at every stage and made significant contributions. Dr Francis Di Stefano allowed us to use his photostatic copies of letters from Conway to the Duke of Devonshire.

We are indebted to Mr David Mandel, Miss Barbara Stoops, and Mrs Bryan Wolf for verifying the references in the notes. The typescripts of the text and the notes were made over the years by Mr Joseph Ambash, Mr Basil V. Igwe, Mr Edward Michewicz, Mr Leigh Miller, Mr Michael Mullin, Mr Jeffrey Sammons, Mr Henry M. Steady, and Mrs Bryan Wolf—some of whom were our assistants under the Yale bursary program.

For helpful information incorporated in specific footnotes we wish to thank Mr Howard Colvin, the Hon. David Erskine, Mr John Fleming, Professor Robert Halsband, Mr John Harris, and Mr W. R. Sergeant. For information concerning the family portraits at Ragley Hall we are indebted to Sir Francis Watson of the Wallace Collection.

W. S L.