

INDEX OF HORACE WALPOLE'S CORRESPONDENTS

This index lists the names of all people to whom Walpole wrote letters now extant, or from whom he received letters still in existence. We give the volume numbers (in bold-face type) and page references where the letters are to be found in this edition. For single letters, the number of the opening page is given; for groups of letters inclusive page numbers are used, though there may be an occasional letter, to or from a different person, between those numbers. For major correspondences, volume numbers alone are sufficient. When textual corrections to letters have been recorded in our Vol. 43, we have added those page references here.

Missing letters are not included, even though headings for many of them are to be found in our volumes, sometimes with information about their contents. We know that Walpole corresponded with several other people though no letters in such correspondences survive—the names of these people are not listed here.

The correspondences are here arranged under the names by which the correspondents are best known, with cross-references from other names or titles. Under 'Unknown' we list letters to or from unidentified persons.
